

IV. Future Health Planning

The Carter County Health Council slated a strategic planning subcommittee to be responsible for laying groundwork on action strategies to address the above priority concerns. Their groundwork will then be taken to the full council for development and approval. With the council's assessment efforts documented herein, a natural progression of future efforts will include a later document describing the council's action strategies and a further document reporting results of those strategies, any changes in related health indicators, and any changes in vital statistics trends or health care services.
